

NEANDERTHAL

Crude cave dwellers or close cousins?

Meet the Neanderthals – long viewed as primitive creatures, the species is much more like us than we previously thought.

Drawing upon the most recent scientific discoveries, this souvenir catalogue takes a new look at this species of the genus Homo. It features exceptional fossils rarely shown to the public outside Europe.

Neanderthals were great hunters, worked stone, mastered the use of fire and buried their dead. They lived throughout Europe and Asia for 300,000 years before mysteriously disappearing 30,000 years ago.

HISTORY
May 2019
Paperback
$9.95
6" x 6" · 120 pages
64 illustrations
978-0-660-25257-5

HOW TO ORDER

In person: at the Gift Shop

Online: historymuseum.ca/boutique

By phone: 1-800-555-5621 (North America)

819-776-7000 (NCR)

By email: publications@historymuseum.ca

By fax: 1-819-776-8535

DR. JANET YOUNG specializes in the study of human skeletal remains and is the Curator of Physical Anthropology at the Canadian Museum of History.

© Luc Olivier / Musée Crozatier